FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S DESK

Immersed in a world filled with technology and social communications, some people today may view libraries as an antiquated concept from another time and place. This notion could not be further from the truth.

Our library plays many roles in today's culture and remains an important part to all of us, no matter our stage in life. To children, it's a magical place of learning and reading as well as talking and having fun. It's a place for summer programs, for after school knowledge, and for growing up.

For teens, the library is a safe place where they "fit in". At the library's Teen Space, young people work on school projects, read the latest young adult books, participate in the Anime Club or Teen Talent Show, or play board games. And maybe more importantly, teens know that the library staff are willing to assist them.

For the busy mom or the manager on lunch break, the library is a place of momentary rest, of meeting with others or finding that latest best-seller to take home.

Our library has become a local information hub for our community. It is a place to stay connected with ever-increasing amounts of data, both digital and analog in nature.

You — our donors, board and committee members, library staff, friends and volunteers, are the heart of our library. Your kind generosity is sincerely appreciated and deeply treasured.
