in supporting your Danville Public Library.

A strong public library system is the very foundation upon which a community can build for the future. It supports all other forms of community life from the arts and business, from education to public affairs, science to entertainment. While tax dollars can create a good library, a community partnership can create a great library.

The Danville Public Library holds a unique place in the life of our City. No other institution bridges the cultural, ethnic, and economic differences among our people. No other institution offers, without charge, the opportunity to access such a broad range of educational resources. No other institution is more important to the future of our children and our community. Give the gift for future generations.
